Preventing Sexual Violence: "Masculinity" May Be Hazardous to Your Mental and Physical Health – Gaining Empathic Understanding, Finding the "Cure"

Society is increasingly recognizing that large numbers of girls and women have been victims of a continuum of sexualized violence – on the streets, in their homes, and on college campuses. Questions must surely be raised and answered concerning why some men and boys perpetrate sexual violence. In doing so we must also examine the internalized and externalized experiences of "masculinity" that our society has imbued within them. Based upon thirty years of research and clinical experience, Dr. Pollock will present a framework for understanding the everyday traumas that growing up male in our society entails; offering a window into those who perpetrate, and into a society that decries such acts, as it simultaneously creates their inevitability.

Dr. Pollack is Associate Clinical Professor at Harvard Medical School/Senior Clinical Consultant/Research Director on the Mental Health of Men, Young Men and Boys at Cambridge Hospital. The author of numerous academic publications, he has been appointed to several U.S. Presidential Committees studying violence in males. His internationally best selling Real Boys series provides groundbreaking insight into growing up male. He may be contacted at www.williampollack.com for speaking engagements and consultation.

SESSION FD WORKSHOPS 9:00AM – 4:30PM

FD1. Assessment for Safe and Appropriate Planning Protocol (ASAPP): This workshop introduces a comprehensive approach to assessing and managing risk in adolescents with sexual behavior problems. Given the extremely challenging task of assessing risk in this population, a working group of academic, research, and assessment and treatment professionals developed the Assessment for Safe and Appropriate Planning Protocol (ASAPP), a structured clinical interview format that: (1) incorporates the latest research on risk, risk assessment and recidivism prediction for these youth; (2) places risk of sexual recidivism in a contextual and developmental framework; (3) incorporates a "risk-needs-responsivity" approach that guides the clinician towards effective risk management and interventions rather than risk prediction alone; and, (4) yields a comprehensive and individualized case formulation to inform risk management, positive youth development, and treatment interventions. If you work with this youth population, this workshop is a MUST to garner the current practice in this field and have the opportunity to practice the skills needed to use this structured clinical judgment protocol.

All Levels/Adol	Presenters:	Steven M. Bengis, Ed.D. Robert T. Kinscherff, Ph.D. Phil Rich, Ed.D. Monica Ferraro. Ph.D
		ivionica Ferraro, Ph.D

FD2. "Attach Here": Examining the Role of Attachment in the Etiology and Treatment of Sexual Behavior Problems in Children and Adolescents: This workshop examines how disruptions in early attachment relationships can contribute to a range of developmental and behavioral difficulties including sexual behavior problems in children. We will highlight the central role that addressing attachment skills and relationships can play in fostering treatment progress and promoting resiliency and discuss interventions that can serve to address attachment related difficulties in our clients.

Intermediate-Adol	Presenter:	Kevin Creeden, MA

FD3. Trauma Informed Practice with Sexual Offenders: Trauma-informed practice recognizes the role of early adversity in the development of high-risk behavior stemming from maladaptive schema shaping one's view of self, others, and the world. By exploring and understanding sexually abusive and criminal behavior through the lens of early trauma, clinicians can infuse trauma-informed interventions into existing evidence-based CBT based on RNR principles. Clinicians working with sex offenders will learn how to incorporate treatment strategies that mitigate future potential to re-offend by facilitating client adoption and rehearsal of more healthy and successful strategies for relating to others and meeting emotional needs.

Intermediate/Adult

Presenter: Jill S. Levenson, Ph.D.

FD4. Using the MIDSA to Assess the Treatment Needs of Individuals Who Sexually Offend: The Multidimensional Inventory of Development, Sex, and Aggression (the MIDSA) is a computerized, contingency based inventory that has been created to assess the developmental histories and current behaviors, attitudes, and cognitions of individuals who have sexually offended. It immediately generates a comprehensive report that identifies treatment targets and aids in the development of a treatment plan. The purpose of the workshop is to introduce the participants to the MIDSA and to provide hands-on experience with the computer administration and interpretation of the report generated.

Professional Tracks!

The Joint Conference is offering three different tracks for students or professionals new to this work. We hope it will help you choose introductory workshops that give an overview of a particular approach to this work. You can choose just one workshop or sign up for the entire series of five workshops in any track.

The three introductory tracks and their sponsors are:

MASOC Sponsored Track:

Sponsored Track Workshops that focus on adolescents or children who have sexually abused.

MASOC is a coalition of nearly 1000 professionals committed to preventing sexual abuse through early intervention in the lives of children and adolescents who have sexually abused. It is MASOC's belief that through appropriate interventions we can protect the community, prevent future incidents of sexual abuse, and offer children and teens the best opportunity to live abuse-free lives. MASOC believes that professionals trained in the most current age-appropriate research and best practices must administer these interventions. Since its founding in 1986, MASOC has grown to nearly 1000 professional members who care deeply about children and teens and keeping our communities safe for everyone. For more information contact MASOC via email at info@masoc.net or through the website at www.masoc.net

MATSA Sponsored Track

ASOC

MATSA Sponsored Track:

Workshops that focus on adults who perpetrate sexual violence.

The Massachusetts Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers, Inc. (MATSA) is a non-profit local chapter of the international parent organization, ATSA. ATSA and MATSA are dedicated to principles that foster research and information exchange, further professional education, and advance professional standards and practice in the field of sex offender evaluation and treatment. Both MATSA and ATSA are deeply committed to the prevention of sexual assault through effective management of sex offenders. MATSA currently has over 75 members in Massachusetts and surrounding states. Contact MATSA via the website at www.matsa.org or by email at: LreGdry@aol.com

Survivor

Survivor Sponsored Track:

Workshops that focus on bringing a victim-centered approach to this work.

The survivor sponsored track provides an approach to working with victims and survivors of sexual violence developed by rape crisis centers and other victim advocacy organizations over the last 40 years. This track will be especially important for professionals working with adults, adolescents or children who have experienced sexual violence and have also perpetrated sexual harm. The track is sponsored by one of the oldest Rape Crisis Centers in Massachusetts: Pathways for Change, Inc. serving the central Massachusetts region (www.centralmasspfc.org). Pathways for Change, Inc. provides services to victims and seeks to change social beliefs and institutional responses to sexual violence.

AM11. Using Group-Centered Group Therapy to Directly Treat Attachment Deficits of Sex Offenders: Group-centered group therapy is an ideal modality for the treatment of the attachment deficits and problems that characterize sex abusers, e.g., detachment, isolation, lack of empathy, alienation egotism, and social aggression. This experiential workshop will demonstrate how group-centered group therapy can positively engage the "avoidant-dismissive" attachment type who devalue the group and distance themselves; help the "insecure-preoccupied" type to manage their neediness with appropriate boundaries and strengthen the self-esteem and participation of the "avoidant-fearful" type who are distrustful and silent. Group-centered group therapy creates a vibran social experience that is flush with meaning and energy and can directly impact attachment problems and deficits.

AM12. A Balanced Approach to Sexual Risk Assessment: Introduction of the Structured Assessment of PROtective Factors (SAPROF) Part 1: Current best practices includes assessing for protective factors as well as risk factors when evaluating sexual offenders. Dr. Kelley and Dr. Thornton are trained trainers in the Structured Assessment of PROtective Factors (SAPROF) instrument. This workshop will provide attendees training in the use of the SAPROF including a thorough review of the research and scoring instructions for each item. Participants will have an opportunity to score practice cases. The workshop will conclude with instruction on how to interpret the results, integrate the results with data from risk assessments, and provide recommendations on how to write up the results. Attendees who complete both the morning and afternoon workshops (PM12) will be able to utilize the SAPROF. A certificate of completion will be provided to those attendees who complete both workshops.

Intermediate/Adult	Presenters:	Sharon Kelley, Psy.D.
		David Thornton, Ph.D.

AM13. How to Use the Sex Offender Treatment Intervention and Progress Scale (SOTIPS): The Sex Offender Treatment Intervention and Progress Scale (SOTIPS) is a 16 item, provider-administered, dynamic measure designed to aid clinicians and probation and parole officers in assessing risk, treatment and supervision needs, and progress among adult male sex offenders. The workshop will review briefly the theoretical basis for and psychometric properties of the scale. The majority focus of the workshop will be on how to score and use the instrument with a static risk measure such as the Static-99R or VASOR-2.

PM9. The Haunting Space of Change: Creating change is both exciting and terrifying. Clients and professional staff form a relationship that explores the intimacies, fears and enthusiasms that "walking through the terrain of moral repair" requires. This workshop will provide the conceptual framework that maps the resistances and "protests" most clients will experience. Exercises and handouts will act as a guide to co-creating the understandings and affective power that clients can find motivating and clarifying in strengthening their therapeutic goals.

PM10. Using the ROSAC to Conduct Sexual Abuser Risk of Sexual Harm to Children Assessments: Mental health, corrections, and child protective services professionals are commonly asked to assess the risk a sexual abuser poses to a particular child and under what circumstances, if any, the abuser might safely be allowed contact with the child or children. This workshop will review a Structured Professional Judgment (SPJ) approach for conducting these types of risk of harm assessments using a beta version of the Risk of Sexual Abuse of Children checklist (ROSAC). Checklist items are grouped into three categories; and considerations concerning the (1) sexual abuser, (2) child at potential risk, and (3) non-offending caregiver.

PM12. A Balanced Approach to Sexual Risk Assessment: Introduction of the Structured Assessment of PROtective Factors (SAPROF) Part 2: Current best practices includes assessing for protective factors as well as risk factors when evaluating sexual offenders. Dr. Kelley and Dr. Thornton are trained trainers in the Structured Assessment of PROtective Factors (SAPROF) instrument. This workshop will provide attendees training in the use of the SAPROF including a thorough review of the research and scoring instructions for each item. Participants will have an opportunity to score practice cases. The workshop will conclude with instruction on how to interpret the results, integrate the results with data from risk assessments, and provide recommendations on how to write up the results. Attendees who complete both the morning and afternoon workshops (AM12) will be able to utilize the SAPROF. A certificate of completion will be provided to those attendees who complete both workshops.

SPECIAL THURSDAY EVENING EVENTS

Conference Workshops Friday, April 10, 2015 SESSION A WORKSHOPS 10:15AM - 11:45AM A1. Assessment for Safe and Appropriate Planning Protocol (ASAPP): This workshop introduces a comprehensive dynamic approach to assessing and managing risk in adolescents with sexual behavior problems. The expert panel will walk you through the structured clinical interview format that; (1) incorporates the latest research on risk, risk assessment and recidivism; (2) provides a contextual and developmental framework; (3) incorporates a "risk-needs-responsivity" approach; and (4) vields a comprehensive and individualized 4500 case formulation to inform risk management, positive youth development, and treatment interventions. If you work with this youth population, onsored Track this workshop is a MUST for practice in this field. All Levels/Adol Presenters: Steven M. Bengis, Ed.D. Robert T. Kinscherff, Ph.D. Kevin Creeden, MA Monica Ferraro, Ph.D. A2. How to Use Effective Intervention and Specialization to Treat Offenders Rather than Blanket Approaches: This workshop will focus on offender beliefs about effective treatment, containment approaches and public policy drawing on research that was started five years ago. We will explore the changes in policy, how they have developed, which approaches have proven to work and which ones have no validated research efficacy. We will finish with a discussion of the need for increased specialization for all the onsored Trac stakeholders working with men who sexually offend. All Levels/Adult Presenters: Robert A. Nazzaro, Jr., MSW Christopher Bruell, Ph.D. A3. Victimology 101: Sexual violence is one of the most underreported crimes. All too often victims of sexual violence internalize the same victim blaming beliefs that our culture perpetuates. Why is it that the VICTIM is blamed for a violent crime that is committed Survivor against them? For the past 40 years rape crisis centers have been looking at the larger issues that perpetuate violence against Sponsored Track women and children and put the focus on the victim rather than the perpetrator. This training will provide an introduction to how society views gender and how the media plays a role in desensitizing us to the impact and consequences of sexualized violence. Introductory/All Ages Presenter: Heidi Sue LeBoeuf, BA A4. Persons with Intellectual Disabilities and Sex Offending Behavior: This presentation will focus on balancing treatment and risk management requirements that arise when persons with developmental disabilities become sexually active. Legal issues and risk management requirements will be discussed using case study examples. Evidentiary needs of courts and the utility of social science testimony will be addressed. Strategies for caretakers and service providers fulfilling responsibilities to keep the individual and community safe through treatment and supervision will be addressed. Program supports and methods of treatment and supervision to help providers maximize available resources to improve management of people with at risk behaviors will be discussed. Advanced-Intermediate/All Ages Presenters: Albert J. Grudzinskas, Jr., JD Fabian M. Saleh, MD A5. Creating a Continuum of Care: Cooperating with Families and Collateral Agencies in Treating Juvenile Sexual Aggression: This workshop will outline the benefits and "how-to" strategies of providing a continuum of care for sexually aggressive youth and their families. Our experience has taught us that early family engagement and collaboration has a direct correlation with a youth's success in treatment. This workshop will focus on how engaging and supporting families in order to navigate barriers to reunification, above and beyond the specific behaviors or mental health needs of the youth, enhances the likelihood that upon reunification, the youth's family has made changes and adjustments that support family safety. Elements of theory, application, curriculum, along with confidentiality, barriers to permanency, and reunification planning will be addressed.

A10. A Clinician's Approach to Stopping First Time Perpetration: Most sexual misbehavior begins with seemingly harmless sexual thoughts and behaviors. Over the course of time, the seeds of deviant sexual interests and/or compulsivity may grow into more extreme and harmful acts. Through a pilot test in California, early intervention services were made available, and a growing number of people suffering from sexual compulsivity and/or deviant sexual interests as well as their families and partners have reached out for help. Learn about this exciting new approach and how this may fit into your practice and community.

A12. Trauma-Informed Care: What is it REALLY and What Does it Mean for Sex Abuse Treatment?: Trauma-informed care (TIC), like many mental health trends, has moved from groundbreaking to oversimplified. Recently, important studies have applied TIC to treatment of people who survive and perpetrate sexual abuse. This workshop will examine: current research, application of TIC to sex abuse treatment, and challenges of implementation.

A13. Lovemaps: The Paraphilias in Film: In this workshop we will explore the spectrum of paraphilic behavior to paraphilic-disordered behavior as portrayed in American film. The use of cinematography to understand sexual behavior is advantageous by allowing the viewer both an entrée into the behavior as well as providing a reflection of societal views of such behaviors. A discussion of the paraphilic behavior will include a review of the film in which the behavior is displayed followed by a clinical review of the disordered behavior. The treatment guidelines for disordered behaviors will be reviewed, including both psychotherapeutic and pharmacologic interventions.

B9. Clinical Narrative Group Supervision for Staff: Its Essential Presence as the Foundation for Any Effective Treatment Program:

The Cornerstone Program adopted a unique approach to clinical supervision that is grounded in Narrative Therapy, Motivational Interviewing and the idea of transparency between front line staffing groups and management. With this philosophy, staff and management work more closely together as a team and abandon the age old "us and them" paradigm. This approach to supervision was implemented with staff and management who provide residential services and treatment to individuals with developmental disabilities who have sexually deviant histories.

B11. Validation of the Static-99 Measures with Latinos: Discrimination and Calibration Analyses: The Static-99 and Static-99R measures are the most widely used actuarial measure of risk, both in terms of research and practice. However, their predictive validity with Latinos is questionable. The present study assessed the performance of these measures on a sample of 519 adult Latino sex offenders, both as a group and as subgroups based on region of origin. Results revealed mixed performance of the measures and raise questions about their use with this particular ethnic group.

To highlight our focus on recovery goals, we will present a video of two clients currently residing in a high intensity program, who talk about their journey to living healthy, non-offending lives. The foundation of our work is based on creating therapeutic environments that promote safe, meaningful lives.

SESSION C WORKSHOPS 2:30PM – 4:00PM

C8. How to Help Our Clients Make and Keep Respectful Healthy Relationships: The literature suggests that negative emotions such as loneliness are key factors in the commission of sex crimes. Often our clients' do not have positive meaningful relationships due to a self-focused perspective or a lack of appropriate social skills. This may also be a function of the client's own attachment style or view of themselves. In addition, other issues such as cognitive distortions regarding relationships and gender attributes impact creating and maintaining positive, long standing friends and healthy intimate relationships. The clients may not even realize the quality of their current relationships (good or bad) and how negative relationships increase negative feelings and actions. This workshop will provide concepts and techniques to assist your clients with all of their relationships: familial, friends and those whom they are intimate with. Examples of clinical techniques will be provided as well as case consultation. This workshop will focus on the concept of self-respect and respect for others in all types of relationships including: friendships, casual partners, dating relationships, long term relationships and relationships with same sex partners.

Understanding the Experience of Persons Who Have Sexually Offended and our Experience with Them: Often professionals are provided with much of the empirical data (such as recidivism data, specific risk factors, etc.) as part of core training. This workshop accentuates the empirical knowledge by moving you through a series of experiential exercises to help you better understand the experiences of persons who have sexually offended. It will also help you identify potential experiences you may go through as a professional working with this clientele. This workshop is ideal for professionals who are new to this field and professionals who may want to take a different perspective on their work.

C13. Diagnosis and Treatment of Military Sexual Trauma: Military Sexual Trauma (MST) is the term that the Department of Veterans Affairs uses to refer to sexual assault or threatening sexual harassment that occurred while the veteran was in the military. MST is endorsed by 1 in 4 female veterans and 1 in 100 male veterans. Veterans who have experienced MST are at increased risk of PTSD, depression, and substance abuse. Veterans with PTSD secondary to MST are treated with evidence-based therapies such as cognitive processing therapy and prolonged exposure which will be discussed. The concept of moral injury and its relationship to sexual trauma is of great interest to the presenter and will also be discussed.
